Silver City Sound & Video has been creating Elegant Heirloom Quality Wedding Video since 1980

New “Essential” Video Package 2011 just what you were looking for

By Kurt Krueger

Much has been happening at Silver City Sound & Video.

New HD camera equipment along with new HD Edit Systems. New High End Video displays to show off our unique work etc., etc., etc.

Along with our new HD gear comes some new packaging to highlight some of these new capabilities.

Now, I realize that not everybody is ready to swing into the High Definition world and with that in mind I've created a New Essentials Wedding Video Package. The biggest reason for creating this package is to attract those clients that might otherwise pass on Video all together because the packaging available is just more than they want or need.

When all is said and done, there really is never, a single person that I've met, that was sorry that they had a pro handle the capturing of this very special day along with all it's sights, sounds and emotion! It just can't be passed up on!

If you were considering passing up on the opportunity to “save the day” on DVD, please give this package a look see.
